Course Leader

Malcolm Ruddock

I had been working with young people as a youth worker and counsellor for over ten years before learning more profound techniques to effect change. My original desire was to help young people change self-limiting beliefs and, often, antisocial behaviour. While I assisted people to achieve changes, I often found that the processes I used, took months or years. Sometimes people never quite made the changes or released the painful feelings they brought.

I started to look at other ways to effect change and achieve the release of unwanted feelings in a short time. These seemed to be the most important aspects of therapy people wanted. I explored and studied new methods that could be used with counselling skills. While still embracing the values of empathy and confidentiality that underpin every therapeutic relationship, these methods produced rapid changes which delighted me and surprised clients.

I am a Master Practitioner in NLP, Time Line Therapy™ & Hypnosis and a Meridian Therapist. I have a Diploma in Psychodynamic Counselling Skills and I am a certified trainer in NLP & and Time Line Therapy™.

NLP Practitioner or Master Practitioner?

Become a Time Line Therapy™ Practitioner

Developed by Tad James, using Time Line Therapy™ you can shift the perspective on a memory, as it relates to time, this allows you to change the effect of a person's past in a matter of minutes. Releasing negative emotions such as guilt, fear, anger and sadness from past memories, allows much more control of future results. Internal conflicts and limiting decisions can also be resolved as fast. You can change values and beliefs, resolve phobic behaviour and improve the healing functions of the body.

Dealing with and resolving limitations and behaviours that have been based on past negative experiences will empower a person to move forward creating a more compelling and prosperous future.

Time Line Therapy™ is popular with many NLP Practitioners as a method for creating quick, effective and long lasting change.

Time Line Therapy™ is a registered trademark of Tad James, exclusively licensed to the Time Line Therapy™ Association.

During the course you will learn:

- Elicitation of the Time Line
- Discovering the Root Cause
- Deleting a Negative Emotion
- Removing a Limiting Decision
- Changing the Direction/Location of the Time Line
- Creating Your Future

Certification as a Time Line Therapy® Practitioner and eligibility for membership of the Time Line Therapy™ Association, is optional, and only open to people already trained to NLP Practitioner level.
